Pandas eat up to 14 hours a day and can eat up to 38 kg of bamboo.

Hopelessly, the forests in China are becoming smaller and smaller, and pandas may not be able to find food easily. The number of people is increasing and they are building homes by destroying the forests where pandas live. So, they live in very small groups in small forests.

There are some plans to help pandas like making small forests larger by changing the farmlands into forests. This means that it will be hard to save pandas if people don't help.
